

Sometimes...

A poem by Dr. Mihai • Published in June, 2016

Sometimes we might need to close our eyes in order to see.
Sometimes we might need to cover our ears in order to hear.
Sometimes we might need to distance ourselves in order to get closer.
Sometimes we might need to cry in order to laugh...

Sometimes we might need to lose in order to win.
Sometimes we might need to be lost in order to find our way.
Sometimes we might need to suffer in order to be happy.
Sometimes we might need to be confused in order to understand...

Sometimes we might need to fight and survive in order to be reborn.
Sometimes we might need to taste the bitter in order to appreciate the sweet.
Sometimes we might need to go through change in order to be renewed.
Sometimes we might need to feel nothing in order to experience love...

Sometimes... we might need to... in order to...
Is this really how it might truly be? Sometimes...
But we always keep going forward with hope!